 - Kansas Commissioner of Education requested parents of children age 18 and younger to participate in a statewide survey. To better address the needs of current and future students, the Kansas State Department of Education is surveying parents and guardians of children 18 years of age or younger about their current perceptions about various post-high school opportunities. In other words, how do you as a parent or guardian define success for your child? <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/DJ5HB5T>
