Administrative Announcement

Liberty Memorial Central Middle School Principal Dr. Anne Hawks announces the selection of the school’s academic interventionist, Brandy Taylor, as assistant principal and athletic director, effective July 1, 2022, pending school board approval. Taylor will succeed Brent Burns, who has resigned after six years with LMCMS, including this year in the administrative role.

“Ms. Taylor brings strong instructional leadership to the role of assistant principal. She is focused and driven. She models integrity for our school community and inspires positive change. Brandy has worked hard to build strong relationships with students and collaborative relationships with staff that will provide a strong foundation as she begins her first administrative role,” said Dr. Hawks.

Taylor joined the district in 2020 as a social studies teacher at LMCMS. She previously taught middle school social studies and English language arts for eight years in Topeka USD 501, where she also served as a reading interventionist and completed an administrative internship. Taylor earned her bachelor’s at the University of Kansas and her master’s and education specialist’s degrees at the University of Missouri-Kansas City.

“I am excited about continuing to work on the relationships that I have developed with our students, staff, and families during my past two years at Liberty Memorial Central Middle School,” said Taylor. “We look forward to focusing our attention on helping our students feel safe in the classroom and building on the lessons we’ve learned during these challenging times.”
